About Nutech Paint

Founded in 1972, Nutech Paint began with an endeavour to make a roof sealer that would not only beautify a roof, but also protect and enhance it for many years. For over 40 years Nutech Paint has been providing Roofing and Concrete coating solutions earning our company a unique position in the protective coatings market as a supplier of quality innovative surface coatings, with a focus on product quality and longevity.

The business has expanded over the last four decades to be now Australia's largest supplier of premium domestic and industrial roof coatings. We lead the market in both the length of our guarantees and the quality of our products. Today, Nutech manufactures a remarkable range of specialised, high quality paints. This includes roof, concrete, texture and house paint, industrial coatings and environmentally conscious strippers, and surface preparation products for a comprehensive range of decorative, commercial and industrial applications.

Nutech is focused on continual development and remaining at the forefront of new technologies in order to meet the ever changing challenges of our market and it's expectations. We invest in research and development into new products and manufacturing processes that create safer products which have a lower impact on the environment. For over a decade we have embraced water-based alternatives to solvent-based products and have developed extensive expertise in coatings that have low or zero VOC (Volatile Organic Compounds) emissions. Our philosophy is for low VOC paints, reduced residue and wastage, and safer environments for both applicators and customers who use our products.

Our process begins with quality raw ingredients to ensure a consistency of production and standards that lead the industry. Although we now service an international market, our products are still proudly Australian Made. We also pride ourselves on expertise and professionalism in customer service, ensuring that regardless of the application situation, each applicator will get the best from their Nutech Products.

Nutech manufactures 99% of the colourants used by the company, in both water and solvent based coatings, to produce our range of 36 standard colours and those required to enable unique one-off colour matching capabilities. Our expertise extends across Nutech aqua acrylic tinters, ultraviolet light reflecting acrylic tinters and solvent acrylic and industrial tinters. The colour matching technology also allows for completely custom surfaces.
